PITTSBURGH, Pa., April 22d, 1865.—Mr. Editor: On account of the arrest of one our employees for using disloyal language in regard to the death of our beloved Chief Magistrate, and from the fact that the news has got pretty generally circulated among the citizens of both our cities and surrounding neighborhood, it appears from the arrest of that man, that the news has not been credited until, as rumor has it, the whole of our employees are tainted with disloyalty. We are sorry, Mr. Editor, that we should be compelled to vindicate ourselves before the public; sorry, indeed, that the public should be led to believe that we are disloyal, or that we would employ disloyal men, but such being the report, we have no other remedy. We would say that the man arrested has been in our employ but a short time. He came from the East, on account of seeing an advertisement in one of our city papers for Coopers. As soon as Mr. Watson (our manager) heard of him using disloyal language he (Mr. W.) had him arrested, and had other employees summoned as witnesses, and he (Keenan) is now in jail for a further hearing. (Mayor Lowry being absent.) And we would have him punished; and would further say that we think it rather unjust that all of our employees and ourselves should be charged with being disloyal, just because one man happened to be so; and, would further say, that we will pay one hundred dollars for such information as will lead to the arrest and conviction of any of our employees (with the exception of Keenan), who has used disloyal language in relation to the death of our beloved President. We are loyal, always have been, and hold our past actions up to view, if such is not the case. Hoping you will insert this in your columns, we are, sir, yours, respectfully,

SPENCER & MCKAY.

An Unpublished Chapter in Recent History.

A correspondent of the New York Tribune furnishes a chapter in recent history, showing that the attempt of the Virginia Legislature to assemble in Richmond was under an order given by Mr. LINCOLN to Gen. WEITZEL, just as he was leaving the rebel capital. This order was penned in consultation of representatives by Judge CAMPBELL, who sent them DAVIS, BENJAMIN, HUNTER's additional pass and orders, which they were bearing to the Legislature. Gen. Weitzel, commanding the Department of Pennsylvania, and Staff; Diplomatic Corps; Chief Justice and Associates of the Supreme Court of the United States; Senate of the United States; House of Representatives of the United States; Federal Judiciary and Judges of other States and Territories; Secretary of the Commonwealth and other State officials, including Justices of the Supreme Court and members of the Legislature; Mayor and Judiciary of the city of Dunolin; Mayor of Harrisburg and City Councils; Committee of Arrangements; delegations from other States; delegations from other places; soldiers of the war of 1812; honorably discharged soldiers of the present war; fire department; civic associations.

At the hour of nine o'clock, the hall of the House of Representatives will be filled in all its parts, and the procession will proceed to those halls in military and civil procession. At the head of the catafalque and Brig. Gen. Eaton who will be assisted by Admiral Davis and such other General officer. There are three general officers on duty every twenty-four hours. Just one hour was allowed for the various bodies comprising the procession to pass through, and the signal grounds to the northern entrance. The coffin in which the President was placed, was bedecked with wreaths of beautiful flowers, the upper half of which was opened, exposing the face and breast to view. The features appeared calm and peaceful, and from the brief glance permitted, seemed to be in a good state of preservation, although slightly discolored.

After the delegations and left the space, the coffin was taken in charge by the pall bearers, composed of citizens of Harrisburg, who reopened it to the hearse, which was draped in mourning, and ornamented with rosettes and white crape, and ornamented with festoons and white ribbons. The hearse was drawn by four splendid black horses, and as the cortege moved from the Capitol salvos of artillery were fired, solemn music played by the bands in attendance, and all the bells in the city tolled.

The military escort was large and very imposing. The right of the procession was allotted to eight companies from Camp Curtin. Among these companies we noticed two lately recruited by Captains McAnd Allegheny, commanded by Captains McDonald and Dorrington. The 16th Regiment of Veteran Reserves came next, and was followed by the right section of the First New York Artillery, (Capt. Bates), which some months ago was encamped on the West Commons, in Allegheny. The pieces of artillery were gracefully decked with crape, ribbons and evergreens. The 28th Pennsylvania Regiment (Mounted Infantry,) came next, and were succeeded by an Independent Cavalry Company from Chambersburg. About one hundred officers, on horseback, wound up the military display.

The procession was composed of at least five thousand persons, and occupied more than an hour in passing a given point. It was undoubtedly the finest display ever gotten up in the State, outside of the two principal cities, and reflects credit on all concerned. Early in the morning a shower of rain fell, but about nine o'clock the sun came out brilliantly, and rendered the weather all that could be desired. All the stores in the city were closed, and many of the buildings were draped in mourning—the latter to a profusion, however, as in Pittsburgh.

After passing through a number of the principal streets, the procession arrived at the depot, when the corpse was removed to the special train in waiting, and the procession dismissed. About half past eleven o'clock the train left for Philadelphia, where it will be followed in a few minutes by the regular train. Average number of the Pittsburgh delegation will leave in this train. C. M. L.

Special Dispatch to Pittsburgh Commercial.

PHILADELPHIA, April 22.

Before leaving Harrisburg the assemblage was so great about the depot that police and military were kept constantly engaged. The sun having come out bright, the procession appeared to splendid advantage. Among those who joined us at Harrisburg were Hon. Simon Cameron, Hon. Jas. K. Moorhead, Hon. Joseph Bailey, and M. Hall Stanton, Chairman of the Committee of Arrangements for the city of Philadelphia. Gov. Bradford and staff returned by special train to Baltimore. Gov. Curtin and staff are on board. While in the latter city the funeral delegations were the guests of the Governor.

At 11 o'clock we departed from Harrisburg. Arriving at Middletown, throngs awaited our coming and watched our departure.

In the village of Elizabethtown, people from the distance in the country and village gathered around the car containing the remains of our lamented dead. At Mount Joy, men and women stood with uncovered heads, and the latter wept as if to the bedside of dearest relatives.

Not less than fifty thousand people gathered together at Lancaster, affording a moving cortege to follow the car containing the President's remains. On being informed, all eyes turned sadly to the coffin, around which was the wreath of spotless white flowering almonds. The coffin lid was open from nine to twelve o'clock last night, during which the hall was crowded to excess with those wishing to get a view of the President's features.

At the appointed hour the doors were closed and the remains borne up until seven o'clock this morning, when the doors will again open and the vast multitude commenced entering the hall. While the citizens, generally, especially the ladies and children, were witnessing the military escort in column of march formed in lines of procession in the following manner: Band of music, cavalry, artillery; 6th Regiment Veteran Reserve Corps, Pittsburgh; Officers, Judges of the Courts; Members of the Bar, and city officers of Harrisburg.

Delegation as aforesaid followed, the Pittsburgh delegation being accorded the right. This delegation numbered sixty, and was followed by the Philadelphia and Baltimore delegations.

The soldiers of the war of 1812 and honorably discharged soldiers of the present war, numbering, as the delegation was very large, at least five hundred, bronzed veterans being in the ranks.

The Fire Department, consisting of seven companies, followed, the members of which were dressed in firemen's uniform, and made a very creditable appearance. Banners and flags, appropriately draped in mourning, were carried by the delegation, but their apparatus was not in the procession.

The Firemen's Benefit Institute of Harrisburg followed, dressed in the full insignia of the order, and made a splendid appearance. Odd Fellows, Knights Templars and Lodges, Sons of Temperance, Good Templars, and other organizations, together with a large delegation of citizens of Harrisburg and the surrounding country.

When the procession arrived at the Capitol, they entered the Hall of the House of Representatives in the order above designated. The walks leading to the Capitol were patrolled by the artillery, who kept a space open sufficient for the passage of the hearse and procession. The Hall was elegantly draped with the emblements of woe, and a large detachment of Fairfax alpha police occupied the ground floor, and were sworn and kept order. The necessary sloppage. The procession entered the hall by the front entrance, in double file, and marched up the aisle to the front of the speaker's desk where the coffin was deposited, and after taking a last, lingering look at the dear remains of our late beloved Chief Magistrate, defiled right and left around the coffin, and passed out at separate doors, where the procession reformed, and marched around the capitol

Extraordinary Action of Gen. Sherman.

The action of Gen. SHERMAN, in attempting to palm upon a peace with JOHNSTON and BRECKENRIDGE, will strike the country as extraordinary, to say the least. Should it turn out that he has deliberately permitted Jeff. DAVIS, and the party of fugitives with him, to escape with their booty, through the withdrawal of SHERMAN, who was sent to guard the route of his flight, this will be entirely to tame language with which to characterize the proceeding. Gen. SHERMAN has clearly exceeded his powers and been betrayed into a folly which impeaches alike his head and heart. We will not say that they who know him best, were prepared for such a display of weakness, but they will be far less surprised than those who knew him solely as a soldier of many matchless qualities. That he should have entertained the question of peace, farther than to be the medium of forwarding propositions, as General GRANT did, was sufficiently extraordinary. But when he so committed himself to terms whereby the rebels were exempted from pain and penalty and practically pardoned, he did that which will forever obscure the luster of his name. If, as we have said, he has permitted the leading rebels to escape, he has brought to a dishonorable close a career otherwise glorious.

It is significant that General GRANT has been sent to North Carolina to take charge of affairs there, with orders from President JOHNSON to secure peace on his own terms—that is, by advancing the army at once. JOHNSON will have the alternative of fighting and being whipped—captured, probably; or surrendering on such terms as he can get. We may confidently for a certainty that they will not be any better than those granted to LEE,—if the temper of the country is observed they will be far less favorable but more just.

President Johnson's Addresses.

We publish to-day two more addresses by President JOHNSON, which form a part of a series of something like a dozen he has been forced to make to as many different delegations. The response to Governor MORTON, of Indiana, is probably the most elaborate he has yet delivered. It is especially able and satisfactory; while that to the clergy of Washington evinces a sense of responsibility and the determination to do right, which cannot fail to go straight to the popular heart. No public man ever bore a part more honorable to himself or satisfactory to the country than President JOHNSON in this emergency.

Jeff. Davis and Booth the Assassin.

There is now no doubt that Jeff. DAVIS with a certain number of his associates is a fugitive bound for Mexico by the shortest route, with a large amount of booty plundered from Southern banks. If Booth is not with him, it is simply because he as yet has not been able to join him. A large reward has been offered for the assassin. We would like to have some one show us the line of difference between the fugitives, except in the amount of booty, the other the servant. Is there any reason why a reward should not be offered for both fugitives? One undertook to take the life of the Nation—the other took the life of the President. There is a common penalty in the eye of the law, and according to the principle of justice both should meet the same fate. Both forfeited their lives, and by fleeing, confess it. The statute in BOOTH's case is no more explicit than in DAVIS. On what can exist a distinction be drawn? Both strive for the same end. They had a common aim. In BOOTH's mode of warfare was not a whit more horrid than that which DAVIS practiced at Andersonville, Libby, Fort Pillow and in other places. If BOOTH's victim was most conspicuous, DAVIS's were most numerous. If the two do not actually flee together, they will quite likely overtake them in their flight. Is there any reason why they can find security. We respectfully ask why not offer a suitable reward for DAVIS as well as BOOTH?

Chrystalize Sentiment.

It is impossible to comprehend the full force of the events which, like an avalanche, have well-nigh overwhelmed the public mind in the last ten days, but it is not too soon to say that, concerning treason, the chrystalized sentiment is, that it is a crime to be punished with the penalties prescribed by the law of the land. The attitude and views of President JOHNSON on this vital point have inspired loyal hearts everywhere and set the popular votes to a new tone. The inflexible purpose of the President to erect the standard of justice and public morality, to discriminate between the leader and the led, to accord to each what they deserve and the high-toned statesmanship of all his utterances on this subject, taken in connection with the horrid crime which has placed him at the head of the Nation, have educated public sentiment, brought back the public mind to the true standard, and, so far as it can be done, developed the future.

WADE, HARDIN, before, public opinion touching treason has crystalized, and become inexorably fixed, and to this extent the future is secure.

Maximilian About to Give Up.

A Paris letter by the last steamer asserts that Senor Arrangoiz, the accredited Minister of Maximilian at London and Brussels, sent on his resignation by the steamer which left Southampton on the 3d of April. He has stated to gentlemen of high political standing in London that no inducements which could be offered would retain him in the position, as he is satisfied that the Mexican empire is about collapsing, and that Maximilian will, ere long, abdicate and return to Austria. He is also now bitterly to repent having accepted the crown of the Montezumas, which he has found a thorny one.

Changes of Command.

Major General Halleck left Washington on Thursday evening for Richmond, it is stated to relieve Major General Ord, and assume command of the Department of Virginia, whose quarters at Richmond.

Major General Ord is to relieve Major General Gillmore, in command of the Department of the South; headquarters at Charleston, South Carolina.

Brigadier General Gillmore is ordered to report in person to the Adjutant General of the Army for orders.

Brigadier General Dent, late of Lieutenant General Grant's staff, has been assigned to duty as Military Governor of Richmond, relieving General Shepley.

THE COURSE OF JUSTICE.—Mosby, the guerrilla, instead of surrendering himself, is a fugitive hunted by some of his own men for the reward of two thousand dollars offered by General HANCOCK for his capture. Mosby is no worse than the rebel leaders generally. In fact, he is not so bad, and we would be glad to see a large reward offered for JEFF. DAVIS and the other rebels, who, to escape their deeds, are endeavoring to get out of the country.

INTERESTING TO OFFICE HOLDERS.—The following resolution was offered by ANDREW JOHNSON in the House of Representatives, March 18, 1847: "That rotation in office, in the opinion of this House, is one of the cardinal tenets in a republican form of government, and ought never to be violated, on any pretense whatever, and should be practiced alike by all Administrations, regardless of their party names."

A PROCLAMATION FORTHCOMING.—President JOHNSON is preparing a proclamation appointing a day of national mourning for President LINCOLN. It will probably be the 25th of May or 1st of June. The first day of national mourning was on the death of General WASHINGTON.

THE Herald's Washington dispatch asserts that in a few days PRESTON KING will be appointed either as Acting Secretary of State or Secretary de facto. It is also said that it is hardly probable that Senator HARLAN will now go into the Department of the Interior. We doubt the correctness of these rumors.

SECRETARY OF THE INTERIOR.—It is understood that President JOHNSON will carry out the views of President LINCOLN regarding the Interior Department, and that Senator JAMES HARLAN will succeed Judge USHER.

A subscription is being made in Charleston to a fund for converting the old race course, used by the rebels as a burial place for their soldiers, into a handsome cemetery. General HALLECK has promised to give rebel sloops enough to send for a corps. Admiral DAHLGREN and Brevet Major General SARTAIN are grand treasurers.

VISITS TO THE PRESIDENT

Three Delegations on One Day; Maine, Ohio, Indiana—Governor Morton's Speech—The Reply of the President—His Policy of Reconstruction—The Rights of the States.

On Friday delegations from the States of Maine, Ohio and Indiana called upon President JOHNSON. That from the State of Maine was headed by the Hon. Mr. Rice, and after an exchange of courtesies withdrew. The delegation from Ohio, numbered over one hundred, and was headed by Governor Brough. After the introduction had been introduced, Governor Brough made a brief address, in which he assured the President of the delegation's entire support and confidence in his trial and ability in his guidance in the cause committed to his hands. That while the delegation deeply mourned the loss that has befallen the country, in their sorrow they did not despair, nor would any other person. That the banner of the country would fall to be borne in its hands with its wonted courage, that same fortitude, firmness, dignity and honesty of purpose that distinguished our leader so lately fallen, fixed on the end—not ask of the President any pledge or guarantee for the future, but only ask of this rebellion shall be entirely crushed, with it its seeds and potent causes shall be annihilated. They simply asked, in the name of the nation, that the example and the record of the rebellion should endure forever, and in all men that the most fearful evil that can commit is the destruction of the nation which has given us for our protection, in conclusion, Gov. Brough renewed his assurances of the support of the State of Ohio.

President Johnson replied in a few succinct and courteous sentences, emphatically endorsing Governor Brough's speech.

On the departure of the Ohio delegation that from Indiana, led by Governor Morton was ushered in. President Johnson received him with marked courtesy, and after a few courtesies of cordial and informal character Governor Morton proceeded to read the minutes of a meeting of Indianians, held in Washington, at which a resolution was adopted expressing confidence in the fullest extent in the ability, patriotism and integrity of the President, and they, with all the loyal men of the country would rally around him and give his administration all of the power which was accorded to the illustrious dead, and pledging the most generous support which was accorded to the illustrious dead, and pledging the most generous support which was accorded to the illustrious dead, and pledging the most generous support

CITY MATTERS.

☞For additional local see first page.

ACTION OF M. E. CHURCHES.—The ministers of the M. E. Church in this city and vicinity, adopted a series of resolutions on the death of the President, as follows: 1st. We bear in grateful remembrance the ability, integrity, and success with which the late President has conducted the ship of State during the darkness and perils of the last four years. 2d. We bewail the sad stroke which so suddenly removed him from the position he was so well qualified to occupy, and in the hour when triumph and peace seemed so near. 3d. We render sincere thanksgiving to the God of our fathers for the assurance vouchsafed to him during his administration, and for the mercies conferred through him on the land of our pride and love. 4th. We bow in submission to the will of God, rejoicing in His reign, and believing that Pa doeth all things well. 5th. We pray that this event may be sanctified to the good of the country and the highest interests of freedom and humanity—that it may intensify the mutual hatred of slavery, the demon in whose infernal behalf the foul deed was done, and strengthen the universal purpose to kill it and bury it beyond all chance of resurrection; that reinforcements of clemency and comfort and help may be granted of heaven to the stricken family of President Lincoln; that the country be loved as well and served so faithfully may be inspired with new faith and energy; that the Divine blessing may rest upon President Johnson, qualifying him in body and mind and heart for the office to which he is called; and that speedily our whole land may rejoice in the enjoyment of a righteous and permanent peace.

THE OBSERVANCE ON SATURDAY.—On Saturday Mayor Lowry issued a Proclamation, in accordance with a resolution passed at a public meeting of citizens, recommending a general suspension of business during the time the remains of the late President were within the limits of the State. However, as our citizens had on two days previous, with entire unanimity, abstained from their worldly pursuits, a third—and Saturday—was deemed by many too great a tax upon them, hence the great majority paid no attention to the request of the Mayor. Yet many of our manufacturing establishments, wholesale houses, and other places of business, were closed all day Saturday. The Committee which left this city on Saturday evening to attend the funeral obsequies of President Lincoln, reached Harrisburgh on Saturday morning, and would accompany the remains to Philadelphia. It is understood that a large delegation will visit Cleveland upon the arrival of the distinguished dead at that city.

PERSONAL.—Captain Jas. Dorrington, of the 118th Pennsylvania Volunteers, who has a company of ninety-eight men in Camp Curtis, at Harrisburg, is on a brief visit to this city. He reports his men all well and in the best of spirits, there not being a single one of his command on the sick roll. Captain Osterell, who has charge of Camp Curtis, is also one of the highest terms, attending, as he does, personally to his duties. The comfort, convenience, and sanitary condition of the men in camp seems to be his careful study, and he leaves nothing undone which may conduce in the slightest degree to either. Officers of this class, wherever found, deserve honorable mention.

"UNDER THE SNOW."—Tats is the title of a pretty musical gem, words by Dill A. Smith and music by Edwin Sherratt, both gentlemen resident Pittsburghers. "Under the Snow" ranks among the popular songs of the day, and may be had at the music stores.

MAYOR'S COURT.—There was no business of public interest transacted at the Mayor's office yesterday. There were only about a dozen trifling cases disposed of, being an unusually small number for Monday.

SNOW STORMS.—There was a succession of snow storms yesterday, accompanied with high, cold winds. There is just cause for apprehension as to the fate of the fruit crop; still it is to be hoped it may not be seriously injured.

MONUMENT AND ZOCCO LODGES.—Monument and Zocco Lodges I. O. O. F. have adopted resolutions of sorrow for the death of President Lincoln, and draped their Halls in appropriate mourning.

RECONSTRUCTION.—United States Commissioner Sproul, on Saturday, re-committed the man Feeney, charged with uttering disloyal sentiments, for further examination.

OPERATING.—Alderman Butler has been officiating as Mayor for the past two days, Mayor Lowry being East attending the funeral of the President.

PITTSBURGH AND UNIONTOWN.—There is now regular telegraphic communication between this city and Uniontown, Fayette county.

Court Proceedings.

QUARTER SESSIONS.—[Before a full bench.]—This Court, which had been closed a week, was opened for business on Saturday. Nothing of public interest transpired, except the disposition of the case of Commonwealth vs. Augustus Mesvoier and A. J. Woolslayer; nuisance. The defendants were charged with setting up a frame building in Collins township, near Negley's Run road, for the purpose of boiling offal, fish, and other dead bodies, bones, horses and other filth, occasioning divers noisome and unwholesome vapors and stenches, to the offence of the neighborhood. Plea guilty. Fined $5 and costs, and ordered to abate the nuisance.

The other Courts were closed on Saturday, but will be open, as usual, for the transaction of business to-day, when jurors, witnesses, clients, &c., should be in attendance.

Booth on the Stage.

It was considered somewhat perilous to play "Richmond" to Booth's "Richard the Third," particularly if the actor was in liquor. During the combat on Bosworth Field he was apt, in his excitement, to consider himself in reality the king, and cut and thrust with the fierceness and ferocity of a man engaged in an earnest and life-depending trial of arms.

At such times it was necessary to disable him, and it was in one of these "crazy fits," it is said, that he disfigured for life by an imparilled actor, the bridge of his nose being broken by the blow delivered through his defense. The very ludicrous scene which occurred at a New York theatre, between Booth and the celebrated "fat girl" of Barnum's Museum, is probably familiar to most of our readers, and is, perhaps, one of the most amusing incidents in the annals of the stage. It is very doubtful whether Booth was insane at any time when not under the influence of strong drink. He was, however, of a very fiery quality, and in his peculiar sphere—the sudden and nervous expression of concentrated passion, as also in the more quiet and subtle passages of his delineations—was, perhaps, unsurpassed by any actor of his time, and would have passed for crazy if it were supposed he was guided in his dramatic outbreaks by feeling rather than consummate artistic skill. Off the stage, the elder Booth was convivial, genial, warm-hearted, and as much loved as his profession he was admired.

☞ FOR NEARLY A QUARTER OF a century Matthews' Venetian Hair Dye has been generally used, and in no case has it failed to give entire satisfaction.

The VENETIAN DYE is the best and cheapest in the world. Its price is only Fifty Cents, and each bottle contains double the quantity of dye in those usually sold for $1.

THIS HAIR DYE is manufactured by a peculiar process which renders it immeasurably superior to anything in the shape of a Dye now or ever before this people. Being complete in one bottle, no preparation is required, which greatly simplifies the application.

IN USING THIS DYE, you avoid that nasty, pitty and unclean by which dyed hair and whiskers are so readily recognized, when an inferior article has been used; besides it produces a perfectly natural color of any shade that may be desired—one that will not fade, crock or wash out—and that is as permanent as the hair itself. SEVEN THOUSAND ACRES
Oil, Coal and Furnace Lands,
FOR SALE
AT PUBLIC AUCTION.

By virtue of a judgment of the Greenup Circuit Court, in the action of Darlington, Merchant and Wm. Waddell vs. Calvin and others, I will, as Commissioner, on MONDAY, MAY 1st, 1865,

Sell at Public Auction, to the highest bidder, at the Court House door, in Greenupsburg, Ky., the GREENUP FURNACE AND LANDS.

There are, by estimation, from six to eight thousand acres, situate on the east side of Little Sandy river, on the waters of Cain creek, in Greenup county, Kentucky. The Furnace is distant from the Ohio river, at Greenupsburg, 16 miles. The Lexington and Big Sandy Railroad is completed from Ashland, on the Ohio river, to within five miles of the center of the tract; the distance from Ashland being fifteen miles.

The Furnace is not only valuable as a Pig Iron Furnace, having a good stack, good machinery, steam, water and horse power, with an abundance of iron ore, and timber to last for many years, but also for its rich CANNEL COAL, and its BITUMINOUS COAL.

With reference to the great coal veins of these lands, Dr. Owen, in his Geological Report, vol. 4, page 431, published in 1861, in speaking of the Cannel Coal of Greenup county, says:

"The Greenup Furnace, this Coal takes a great developement. It is opened at many places, and now worked for its cannel, rich in oil, and of excellent quality."

Greenup county is now attracting great interest as an oil region, and the investigations of Geologists, practical oil men and capitalist, give every assurance of the abundance of carbon oil. Large preparations are being made for boring and development.

The lands now offered are so good, and by many regarded as the best Oil Lands in the county.

There are from three to four hundred acres under fence, and in cultivation, and much more that is valuable for agricultural purposes.

TERMS OF SALE.

The sale will be on a credit of six, twelve, and eighteen months, in equal installments. Bonds will be required, with good personal security, bearing interest from the day of sale, and to have the force of sale bonds taken under execution sales. The purchaser will have the right to pay the money at any time after the sale has been confirmed by the Court. The security required may be either resident, or non-resident of the State—so that they are good.

March 31, 1865.—ap11-14t Commissioner.

DALTON'S
FAMILY
KNITTING MACHINES
PATENTED 1861. PERFECTED 1864.

After years of experimenting and patient study these machines have been brought to a standard of perfection RARELY IF EVER EQUALLED IN THE MECHANIC ART.

THEY ARE PERFECTLY SIMPLE,

Are very strongly constructed, and will LAST A LIFETIME.

The labor required to run them is very trifling, and they make VERY LITTLE NOISE.

A child can easily operate and adjust them for the different kinds of work.

They will readily knit

Woolen or Cotton Yarn, Zephyrs, Worsted or Silk, and make PLAIN or KNIT GOODS as desired. They are designed for making

SOCKS,
STOCKINGS,
JACKETS,
SASHES,
LEGGINGS,
SCARFS,
UNDERSLEEVES,
TIPPETS,
AFGHANS, &c.

Their capacities are such that they knit every stitch of the articles named, leaving not a minute's work to be done with the old fashion knitting needles, and but little hand work of any kind.

More Work can be accomplished in one day, on one of these Machines, than can be done in two months by hand.

The PLAIN STITCH made by them is precisely the same as that made by the ordinary Knitting Needle.

They will make tight or open stitch, plain, ribbed or fancy.

They are capable of making a greater quantity and variety of work, and in a more perfect manner, than any other knitting Machine in existence.

Young women desirous of securing a means of earning a livelihood, will find nothing so certain of furnishing without fail, a profitable employment, as one of these Machines.

To Publishers of Newspapers.

One-half of the amount of a machine will be taken in advertising at regular rates.

Finance and Trade.

SATURDAY, April 22, P. M.

The Board of Bankers and Brokers, as well as the People's Stock Exchange, suspended the usual routine of business on Saturday agreeably to the Proclamation of the Governor, announcing the passage through the State of the funeral cortege with the remains of our late beloved Chief Magistrate, Abraham Lincoln, and the recommendation of the Mayor of the city, suggesting a general suspension of business. Business of all kinds has been broken in upon by the terrible event that has shrouded the country in mourning and gloom, that it can hardly be expected that labor and trade will get into working trim for some time to come. The tone of the Stock Market is, however, healthy, and removes all ground for apprehension that the foul act of treason would materially affect the National credit. The fact that an event, which, in European countries, would have created violent fluctuations of securities, has been accomplished here with no change in the value of the National bonds, will be accepted as another evidence of the stability of the United States Government, and the value of its securities.

The continued additions to the number of banks must necessarily have the effect of increasing the supply of money during the suspension of specie payments, and hence we may reasonably expect more or less speculation in produce, stocks, &c., as soon as prices have settled down to correspond with the reduced rate of gold, which it may now be assumed will not vary much from present prices, until the period for resumption approaches. There are so many unsettled questions, and heavy annual expenditures to meet, that to expect such a confidence as would justify an attempt at early resumption is nowise. We must inspire confidence in our Government and its institutions abroad as well as at home, ere and entire before we can offer coin to our creditors with safety. We must have a decided balance of trade in our favor, and a demand from abroad for our products. Cotton will not be produced as extensively as heretofore for some years to come, and Petroleum is only being introduced as an article of commerce into many European countries, but will soon be our heaviest and most important article of export.

One good effect of the present reduced price of oil will be the use of it more extensively and for a greater variety of purposes, and thus create a permanent demand.

The government tax upon it is too heavy, and will, no doubt be modified in accordance with the reduced value. It is not good policy to tax too hi, hly an article which is just being introduced to the world, as many uses would be found for it if cheap, which will not be thought of at high prices. A moderate tax on it will yield a greater revenue than the present in consequence of the extended demand and production—thus adding largely to the wealth of the nation.

The error Congress made was in making the tax specific instead of ad valorem. Such a mode of taxation has always worked injuriously, and tends to oppress a business at a time it most needs encouragement.

PITTSBURGH GENERAL MARKETS

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH COMMERCIAL, } Monday, April 24, 1865. }

Business on Saturday was suspended as a mark of respect to the memory of the late President of the United States. In fact the entire week was one of mourning. Sadness was depicted on the countenances of all you met hence we have no report of the markets for this day; prices were nominally the same as for some days past; in a few days we hope to see the spring trade open. Those remarks will also apply to oil.

MARKETS BY TELEGRAPH.

New York Finance and Trade.

Special to Western Associated Press.

NEW YORK, April 22.

There was more activity in the stock market this morning, the speculative feeling being stronger and prices generally higher. The demand for Governments was active under call, and on the street prices are generally better. Railway speculation was firmer at the Stock exchange, and there was an improvement throughout the entire list. Cleveland and Pittsburgh and Michigan Southern are also very active. There was more disposition to purchase and a large business was transacted. After call the market was steady. State bonds were steady and not offered very freely. Coal and miscellaneous stocks are better and more doing. The gold room was firm, without any special excitement or activity. Monday and Tuesday will be partially, if not the cases of the holidays. The gold room has adjourned over both days.

The Stock Exchange will hold no session on Tuesday, also will decide on Monday whether to hold any session on that day. Money continues very easy. There is very little Saturday demand. Foreign exchange bills are wanted for remittance in account of United States bonds returned from London. Petroleum stocks are all higher. With increased activity. The sales advanced to 1,000 shares, Buchanan Farm sold at 1 20; Webster, 2 00; Took, 1 80; United States, 11 20; Germania, 95; Heydock, 20 00; Knickerbocker, 55; Empire City, 2 75; Excelsior, 1 60; Oceanic, 2 50. Petroleum closes steady but quiet at 67 for crude, 97½ for refined in bond, and 72@73 for refined free.

New York Gold Market.

NEW YORK, April 22.

Gold is kept firm by the demand from exchange dealers. Within two days about eighteen million dollars will be thrown upon the market by the payment of the May coupons which may be expected to ease the market and lower the quotations.

New York Money and Stock Market.

April 22.

Money easier at 5@6 per cent. Sterling quiet at 9@9½ for sight and good first class sixty days. Little Brown and gone, opening at 124½, and varying to 124½, and closing with sellers at 124½. Coupons of 1881 were sold at 108½@9. Government Stocks firm and quiet. The following were the rates of Gold: Erie's, Cleveland and Pittsburgh, 86; New York Central 89½; Erie 75½; Hudson's 117½; Reading 105½; Michigan Southern 67¼; Illinois Central 119; Pittsburgh 91½; Rock Island 99½; Northwestern 39½; do Preferred 69½; Fort Wayne 99½; Galena 88; Mississippi Centrals 27½; Canton 40; Cumberland Preferred 47; Quicksilver 36½; Mariposa 14½; and Stocks steady on call. Rates of loans still call at 130%. There will be no Evening Exchange on Monday, but business will be resumed on Tuesday night.

New York Petroleum Market.

NEW YORK, April 22.

Petroleum quiet at 67½ for crude; 98 for refined in bond, and 73½ refined free.

New York Market.
